RCSI AND RCPI LICENTIATES

The sister colleges of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI) and Royal College of Physicians of Ireland (RCPI) are honoured to ask today's graduands to recite the following declaration. These historical licentiates commenced in 1886 when the Medical Act of 1886 recommended that the various medical licensing bodies in Ireland joined together to award diplomas covering medicine, surgery and midwifery, as all three were required for medical registration. As a result of the 1886 Medical Act the Conjoint Board was established by RCSI and RCPI, and the licences of both Colleges were awarded together for the first time. Each College had its own declaration to be made by those obtaining its licence, so that to this day the declaration of the RCSI and the declaration of the RCPI are made by those becoming Licentiates of both RCSI and RCPI. The declaration today is an affirmation regarding the Licentiate's future observance and demeanour and is an important part of admittance into the profession of medicine.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND

Our Mission: to Educate, Nurture and Discover for the benefit of Human Health

Our ultimate purpose is to work in service of patients. Our College was founded by Royal Charter on 11th February 1784, to set and support professional standards for surgical training and practice in Ireland. This noble surgical heritage continues to shape our approach to education, research and service. At its very essence, surgery is the most exacting of disciplines, demanding professionalism, precision, skill and expertise at the highest level.

Today we are an innovative, world leading international health sciences education and research institution with undergraduate and postgraduate schools and faculties across the health sciences spectrum. We are home to numerous healthcare institutes as well as leading research centres driving pioneering breakthroughs in human health. Located in the heart of Dublin, with four international campuses and a student community of over sixty nationalities, we have an international perspective on how we train tomorrow's clinical professionals today.

A deep professional responsibility to enhance human health through endeavour, innovation and collaboration in education, research and service informs all that we do. We welcome students and researchers into programmes of academic excellence and a lifelong community of colleagues, that is clinically led, nurturing and supportive to enable them to realise their potential to serve our global patient community.

We are an independent, not for profit body and remain committed to institutional independence, service, academic freedom, diversity and humanitarian concern. Our independence enables us to chart our own course in service of excellence in human health. Placing the patient at the centre of all that we do, our values of Respect, Collaboration, Scholarship and Innovation continue to unite and direct our purpose.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND – MEDICAL UNIVERSITY OF BAHRAIN

Having first opened our doors to 28 medicine students in 2004, under license from the Government of the Kingdom of Bahrain, a vibrant school of Nursing and Midwifery admitted its first cohort of students in October 2006 and RCSI Bahrain now has a student population of more than 1,600 from 40 countries around the world.

In February 2009, a purpose built university campus adjacent to the King Hamad University Hospital, was opened by the then President of Ireland Mary McAleese and the late His Royal Highness Prince Khalifa bin Salman Al Khalifa.

The role of the university is to provide healthcare education and training to world standards in Bahrain, drawing students from Bahrain, the other GCC countries and beyond.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS OF IRELAND (RCPI)

Beginning in 1564 as a Fraternity of Physicians, in 1667 the College was granted a Royal Charter by Charles II. The roll of the College includes the names of such famous Irish medical men as John Stearne, Sir Patrick Dun, John Cheyne, Robert Graves, William Stokes and Sir Dominic Corrigan.

Associated with RCSI in the conjoint Board, the College plays an active part in education and examination of undergraduate medical students. In its postgraduate professional role it is responsible for teaching, examining and training in the medical specialities and associated disciplines.

THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF IRELAND (NUI)

NUI is a federal university comprising the largest element of the Irish university system at the present time. The continuing mission for NUI in modern Ireland is to provide a supportive framework for its confederate institutions. NUI currently comprises four Constituent Universities and five recognised Colleges. The overall Governing Authority of the University is the NUI Senate which is headed by the Chancellor.
